

Conditions for Submission

This form must be completed and signed by each co-author. Completed forms can be submitted online through Editorial Manager with the article or faxed to +314-963-9345. If forms will be faxed, select the “offline” option for Conditions of Submission forms in Editorial Manager. With the exception of the signature line all form fields can be filled in on your computer.

Topics in Spinal Cord Injury Rehabilitation

Manuscript title: _____

Corresponding author: _____

Author(s)' Warranty: Any person listed as a manuscript author should have made substantive intellectual contributions to the study as established by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE, www.icmje.org). The authors warrant that the entire manuscript is an original product of the author(s) and represents honest and valid work.

Author(s)' Rights: Thomas Land Publishers (TLP) hereby licenses the following rights back to the author(s): (1) Patent and trademark rights to any process or procedure described in the article; (2) The right to photocopy or make single electronic copies of the article for their own personal use, including for teaching purposes within an educational environment, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided that the copies are not sold or systematically distributed in paper or electronically. Posting of the article on a secure network (not accessible to the public) within the author(s)' home institution is permitted; (3) The right, subsequent to electronic or print publication, to use the article or any part thereof, free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings or lecture notes. TLP will post articles to PubMed Central on behalf of the authors in accordance with the NIH Public Access Policy.

Note: All copies, paper or electronic, or other use of the information must include an indication of the Thomas Land copyright and a full citation of the journal source.

Copyright Transfer Agreement: In consideration of TLP's role in reviewing and editing this submission, the author(s) agree to transfer, assign, or otherwise convey all copyright ownership, including any and all rights incidental thereto, exclusively to TLP, in the event that this work is published by TLP. If the manuscript is not accepted for publication, then all said rights return to the author(s). For officers or employees of the US government, TLP recognizes that works prepared as part of their official government duties are in the public domain, but they must still sign the Conditions for Submission form.

Exclusive Publication Statement: The author(s) certify that this manuscript and the material within this manuscript have not been previously published in print or electronic formats in part or in whole and this manuscript and materials within this manuscript are not currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. This includes symposia, transactions, books, journals, invited articles, and preliminary publications. This restriction does not apply to abstracts of fewer than 500 words.

Disclosure of Conflicts of Interest: Each author has completed the ICMJE Form for Disclosure of Possible Conflicts of Interest, which must be submitted with the manuscript. The form is available online at http://www.icmje.org/coi_disclosure.pdf All relevant conflicts of interest and sources of funding (including grant number) must be included on the cover letter that accompanies the manuscript.

Reporting Guidelines: The authors affirm that the manuscript is an honest, accurate, and transparent account of the study being reported; that no aspects of the study have been omitted; and that any discrepancies from the study as planned (and, if relevant, registered) have been explained.

Patient Anonymity and Informed Consent: It is the authors' responsibility to ensure that a patient's anonymity is carefully protected and to verify that any experimental investigation with human subjects reported in the manuscript was performed with informed consent and following all the guidelines for experimental investigation with human subjects required by the institution(s) with which all the authors are affiliated. Authors from US institutions must comply with regulations of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) of 1996.

Protection of Human Subjects and Animals in Research: When reporting work with human subjects, authors must indicate whether the procedures followed protocol and accord with the ethical standards of the responsible institutional review board, ethics committee, or with the Declaration of Helsinki (<http://ohsr.od.nih.gov/guidelines/helsinki.html>), as appropriate for the country where the research took place. Manuscripts that report research involving animals must include a statement that either the protocol was approved by an institutional animal care board or that the animal care complied with the "Principles of Laboratory Care" (formulated by the National Society for Medical Research) or the "Guide for the Care and Use of Laboratory Animals" (National Academy of Science).

Device Status: A statement appearing on the cover page of the manuscript regarding the presence or absence of the use of any medical devices in the study is required. If a medical device(s) is discussed, then a statement regarding its legal/regulatory status is required, including FDA status (eg, approved for indicated use, investigational, exempt from regulations [and why], not approved, or unknown).

Funding Source: All manuscripts must include a statement of the source of funding of the study (if applicable) in the cover letter.

I have read and agree with the statements as described herein and more completely in the full TLP Instructions for Authors.
